

Dear Community Partner,

Welcome to The CODE EMS Conference, Pennsylvania's Premier EMS Conference offering continuing education and clinical experiences for your First Responders. As your communities first line of response to medical emergencies, manmade and or natural disasters, your Emergency Medical Services are a vital link in our communities' healthcare systems. The dedicated men and women in your EMS System are highly trained professionals capable of bringing the latest clinical skills and technology to request for emergency assistance.

To place this into perspective, each year, the EMS systems in the Eastern PA six county region responded to over 260,500 requests for assistance. This highly structured response begins with your call to 911 and carries through to the delivery of the patient at the emergency department. In order to sustain the highest level of readiness, our Pre-Hospital practitioners are required to maintain specific ongoing educational standards and credits. One opportunity for your responders to capture this education is the CODE EMS Conference.

This annual educational event showcases best practices and advancements in the delivery of pre-hospital treatment and transportation. The CODE EMS Conference strives to afford the highest level of clinical expertise with an emphasis on reducing mortality and morbidity in the pre-hospital arena. Marketing to a continually evolving population across the Commonwealth of PA and beyond, we welcome a combined number of practitioners, fifty exhibitors, regional trauma centers, recognized stroke and PCI centers, health networks, medical device, vehicle manufacturers, and more. The CODE EMS Conference provides over fifty educational offerings presented by emergency care physicians and pre-hospital professionals that represent a diverse compilation of healthcare professionals from across the Commonwealth and beyond.

The overwhelming increase in interest, growth, and expansion of educational opportunities paves the way for an expanding venue to commence the 2019 CODE EMS Conference at the Kalahari Resort and Convention Center, located in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania. This venue promotes our ability to increase practitioner participation, exhibition space, and sponsorship opportunities. This move also embraces the increased visibility of sponsors by expanding market awareness and presence for our many respected healthcare partners.

The CODE EMS Conference respectfully requests your consideration to join us via a number of sponsorship opportunities. Your support assists us in providing the highest caliber of education at the lowest possible cost to our practitioners. Please join us on October 9, 10 & 11, 2019 as we again bring EMS, Hospitals, and Healthcare networks from across the Commonwealth together for our premier EMS educational event.

Thank you for your consideration and support, for additional information on the CODE EMS Conference, please contact Mr. John Kloss, event coordinator at 610-820-9212 Ext 7 or john@easternemscouncil.org
